

Watauga Democrat

LOCAL AFFAIRS

Beautiful weather at last.

Court adjourned this morning.

Boost the Chautauque, is the watchword.

The attendance at court was unusually large on Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Mack Nuttall and wife are visiting the folks and friends at Montezuma this week.

For want of space we are forced to leave out many things of local interest this week.

There will be a box supper at the Widebarger school house on Saturday night, Sept. 18th, to which the public is invited.

Rev. and Mrs. Morris, of Ammantha, were pleasant and appreciated callers at this office yesterday afternoon.

James Moore, son of Mrs. Emma Moore, of Boone, has gone to Washington, D. C., where he will enter school for the ensuing year.

Miss Dare Phillips spent Saturday night in Boone en route to Hendersonville, where she has taken a position as teacher.

If you haven't bought your ticket for the Chautauque yet, see Miss Mae Greene or Miss Esther Shipley. They are succeeding beautifully in their sales.

The grade work on depot St. will soon be completed, and the delivery of the crushed stone from Cranberry for the Macadam work will begin this week.

Next Monday night at the court house—the regular Commercial Club meeting. Committees please organize if possible and report at this meeting. H. W. Horton, Pres.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Pearson, of Miami, Florida, and Indianapolis, Ind., who have been at the home of Mr. B. J. Council for several weeks, left yesterday for Miami to spend the winter.

Dr. Little, who arrived from Raleigh a week ago, whose illness we have mentioned before, is steadily growing weaker, and it seems that the hopes of his recovery are growing less daily.

Hon. Cameron Morrison, Democratic candidate for Governor of North Carolina, will speak at the court house in Boone on Friday, Sept. 24, at 1 p. m. A big day for the Democracy of the mountains. Pass the word along. Everybody invited.

Democratic primaries in the various townships of the county at 2 p. m., next Saturday, and the county Convention next Monday. One of the State's leading Democratic speakers will be on hand for the occasion, according to a wire to the County Chairman.

The officials of the Linville River Railroad are expected to be here tomorrow. Members of the Commercial Club might help to make their visit pleasant by meeting these people. They could help build up Boone by bringing new industries.

Dr. White Eagle and wife, of Oklahoma, have been in town since last Saturday. They came to advertise and put on sale a line of their famous Indian remedies that can now be had at the Boone Drug Co's. The Indian doctor is highly pleased with Boone and the nice business relations he has established here.

Miss H. M. Berry, Secretary of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, has been in the county this week talking good roads. Miss Berry hopes to get through the Legislature a bill providing for the building and maintenance by State expense of a system of hard surfaced roads connecting county seats and other important points. Miss Berry believes that the small county cannot afford to build the sort of roads that present day traffic demands. The State in the future must be the unit.

A frightful accident occurred on the head of Elk last Saturday. Mr. Willie Triplett, was cutting wood on a hillside. He cut off a log which ran down the hill catching three small children in its mad flight, but, fortunately, none were killed, but two were seriously hurt; the thigh of one being broken, the other badly hurt about the head; the third escaped with but slight injuries. Dr. Bingham, who has the cases in charge, reports that they are getting on nicely, and hopes for their permanent recovery.

At the close of the S. S. services at Howard's Creek church last Sabbath, a perfect host of people from the surrounding country arrived loaded down with baskets filled to the top with the top with the choicest foods that good section could furnish. The Supt. Mr. E. J. Norris, who was 77 years old that day, had no idea what all the commotion was about until he was informed that the gathering and the dinner was in honor of his birthday. The dinner filled a table more than seventy feet long, and more than 200 partook of the splendid dinner. A great compliment to the old veteran who has been the strong prop of that church and Sunday School for many years.

A frightful mad dog scare is spreading over the Cove Creek section, in fact the conditions from reports, are serious. Mr. Walter Bumgarner had three cows that were stricken with some unknown disease, and soon died in fearful convulsions. It was suspected that hydrophobia was the trouble, but none had the slightest idea of its origins. Accordingly the brains were taken from one of the animals and sent to Raleigh for analysis, and the chemist wired that the malady was hydrophobia. When the trouble was first discovered among the cattle, Mr. Paul Spainhour was sent for, and in attempting to drench her was bitten by one of the cows, and is now in Morganton taking the Pasteur treatment which is being sent out from Raleigh each day. The animals were skinned; several men handled the pelts and now the fears are that some of them may be infected through abrasion of the skin, and we understand that some of them may go to Raleigh for treatment.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are continually being called on to sell gas on Sunday, and we are not staying open on that day, neither do we intend to. We are serving notice that we will not sell any more gas on Sunday except in extreme cases of necessity.

BOONE HARDWARE CO.

A CARD.

When I think of the lavish kindnesses extended to me and my little children during the brief illness, death and burial of my dear wife, I find words inadequate to express my deep appreciation and gratitude, and my prayer is that when the Black Camel kneels at your doors, you may find friends as true. God bless you, each and every one. J. C. BROOKSHIRE.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of expressing our heart-felt thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses shown us during the illness, death and burial of our dear brother and uncle, Thomas J. Elrod. When sorrows come to them, as it has to us, we humbly pray the blessings of God to rest on each and every one of them.
